SCOTTISH GREAT DANE CLUB ETHICAL GUIDELINES

Breeding

Members will, when breeding dogs, adopt as a minimum standard, the principles, requirements and recommendations as embodied in The Kennel Club's Assured Breeder Scheme. It is strongly recommended that members' who breed should apply to join the scheme.

1. Betterment of the Great Dane Breed

Breeding of Great Danes should only take place for the betterment of the Breed. To avoid matings, which could be detrimental to the Breed, members are advised to:

- spend at least 3 years in the breed before considering using a dog/bitch for breeding purposes.
- think and check carefully before allowing your dog/bitch to be used for breeding.
- think long and hard about what is going to happen to the puppies' long term welfare. Remember there may be puppies you cannot sell.
- check prospective homes for puppies very thoroughly and check on their welfare after sale
- only established breeders should consider having bitches out on breeding terms.

If you are not prepared to do this DO NOT BREED.

2. Sound Stock

Owners should only breed from a sound, healthy dog/bitch, which to the best of their knowledge is free from diseases/hereditary defects and is registered with the Kennel Club. Before considering a mating, the backgrounds of both Danes should be thoroughly investigated.

3. Mating of Bitches

A bitch shall only be mated whilst between the ages of 2 (two) years and 7 (seven) years. A first litter should only be produced when under the age of 5 (five) years. There should be at least 12 (twelve) months between litters. A bitch should only produce a litter TWICE in any 24 month period.

A breeder should keep accurate, colour marked pedigrees, stud details, breeding records and Kennel Club documentation.

4. Facilities

Breeding should not be attempted unless adequate facilities and personal attention are available. Advice from an established breeder and your veterinary surgeon should be sought before embarking on this serious matter.

5. Advertising

Advertising must be honest and free from ambiguity. It must not be open to misrepresentation or fraudulent application. It must not contain the name of the Club

Selling Danes

1. Before selling

Members should do everything to ensure prospective owners:

- really want a Great Dane and are aware of its adult size, appetite, housing needs and the costs involved.
- are aware of the Kennel Club General Code of Ethics.
- will follow your advice on rearing
- are aware of the advantages of having their Dane insured and micro-chipped.

2. Age at which to sell a puppy

Ideally a puppy should not leave its breeder before 8 weeks of age.

3. Danes with obvious defects

No puppy which has any known defect or which shows any definite departure from the Standard should be sold without the buyer being made fully aware of such defect or departure from the Standard and its possible consequences.

Members should sell only puppies which to the best of their knowledge are in good health at the time of the sale.

4. Puppy Diet Sheet and Advice

A full diet sheet covering the period from the date of sale to 18 months should accompany each puppy when sold. If the new owner is not a knowledgeable Dane person details and advice should also be given on such matters as worming, exercise, training, showing and useful Dane books to read, together with the breeder's telephone number.

5. Sale Documentation

Full pedigree, confirmation of KC registration and sales receipt should accompany all Danes sold.

6. Pedigrees

All pedigrees must be correct, up to date and colour marked.

Welfare of Great Danes

1. Breeders Responsibility

A breeder must take full responsibility for re-homing a Dane sold by them, which has subsequently become unwanted.

It should be impressed upon the person buying the Dane that the breeder is the first one to be informed if they have problems with the Dane or are no longer able to cope with it.

2. General

All members of The Scottish Great Dane Club shall conduct themselves in such a way as to reflect credit on the ownership of dogs.

They must treat all dogs with such kindness and consideration as to ensure their happiness, dignity and continuing well-being; and to demonstrate to prospective dog owners what standards will be expected of them as members of the Scottish Great Dane Club.
